Training in your state

Hello everyone.

This is my first question on the Listserv so I hope I am doing this correctly and not repeating a question that was already asked.

How is training in your state? Are your numbers up or down? Ohio's training registration numbers are up 1%, I'm curious to see what it is in other states.

Thanks for your assistance.

MARYLAND

Hi Michele,

Welcome to the wild, wonderful and sometimes whacky world of the SMSA Listserv. Just kidding, all good stuff here.

In Maryland were also up about 1% with the Basic Rider Course. We just started doing the 3WBRCu with a few centers involved with BRP's Spyder loaner program. It's going very well.

Regards.

SOUTH DAKOTA

South Dakota had a 12.3% increase in training this year. There are some variables that must be considered. In 2017 we had a slow start to the training season due to retraining instructors because of a curriculum change. This year however we cancelled 26 classes at the beginning of the season due to spring snowstorms. As a result the late starts in 2017 and 2018 may cancel one another making the 12.3% increase this year a legitimate increase. Take it for what it's worth.
