Posted by Joe Elliott National Motorcycle Institute January 6, 2016

2016 Motorcycle Data Update (National Motorcycle Institute)

We're pleased to announce that the NMI Data Page has just been updated with the latest information available.

Up until the last couple of years, reliable information on motorcycling and rider training has been difficult to find. The National Motorcycle Institute (NMI) accepted the challenge of providing reliable, easy-to-access data. NMI obtains raw data directly from sources such as the DOT Fatal Accident Reporting System, and translates that scientifically into easily understandable graphics and explanations. All NMI data is available to anyone, free of charge. Reliable information can help you make better decisions about your program. The 2016 update incorporates data through the latest year available, 2014.

Please go to:

http://www.motorcycleinstitute.org/data and click on and look through the data links that interest you.

For the SMSA group, we recommend two pages in particular:

1. Each state's historical Licensed Driver Fatality rates can be found here:
http://www.motorcycleinstitute.org/licensed-driver-data/

2. If you would like to compare particular states to the National averages or to each other, we recommend the table here:
http://www.motorcycleinstitute.org/docs/data/dangerometer/dangerometer-alphabetical.pdf

Best Regards,

Joe Elliott
Executive Director, NMI