

Posted by John Zimmerman

PA Driver Qualifications Section Manager

February 5, 2016

Training Numbers for 2015 vs. 2014

Now that year-end training numbers are final, I would like to follow-up on Sunshine's survey conducted in September and would be interested to know where everyone ended up for 2015 as compared to 2014? What were your final numbers and were you up or down and by what percentage

IDAHO

Hello Folks,

Here is a chart of responses I collected from my query about # of students trained YTD compared to last year at this time. I felt it was most appropriate to leave out the specific states.

~Sunshine Beer

MISSOURI

Missouri was down about 3% for 2015.

~Ray Pierce

CONNECTICUT

CT was down roughly 30 students from last year. Just missed the 5000 mark at 4997

~Nicholas Just

VIRGINIA

VA is down about 100 students from 2014 to 2015.

~Bruce Biondo

SMSA

Are you referring to the total number that registered for a course or the total number the actually completed the course? Did your drop outs increase or decrease? Was there a change in your pass/fail rate?

~Andy Krajewski

OHIO

Ohio
2015
index
2014
13,090
0.98703
13,262
~Chuck Stiteler

TEXAS
2014 2015
38449 37869 (a difference of 580 students)

1.5% decrease between 2014 and 2015

~John Young

IDAHO

Idaho was down 9% overall, and that reflects a decline in all but one of our 8 courses; here are our 3 most popular courses:

? Basic I = -7%

? Basic II = -8%

? Experienced = -2%

~Sunshine Beer

MICHIGAN

Michigan is up by 68 students.
9400 - 9468
~Joe Kelly

OREGON

Oregon saw a 7 percent increase in students over 2014, in part due to phasing in the last age group (61+) into Oregon's mandatory training requirement. The pass rate remained almost unchanged, up maybe 1 percent.
~Pat Hahn

WASHINGTON

Washington

2014 15,546
2015 15,313
~Julie Knittle

COLORADO

Colorado trained 10,643 in 2014, 9605 in 2015 a decline of 10%
~Glenn Davis

PENNSYLVANIA

Now that year-end training numbers are final, I would like to follow-up on Sunshine's survey conducted in September and would be interested to know where everyone ended up for 2015 as compared to 2014? What were your final numbers and were you up or down and by what percentage
~John Zimmerman

IDAHO

Here is a chart of responses I collected from my query about # of students trained YTD compared to last year at this time. I felt it was most appropriate to leave out the specific states.

[\[cid:image001.png@01D16019.DA8FC880\]](#)

~Sunshine Beer

CALIFORNIA

2015 = 53,764 students
2014 = 61,888 students

We are very happy with these numbers considering we had a new contractor and only trained about 7,500 during the first quarter.

~Larry Starkey

MINNESOTA

Minnesota was down 72 students in rider training courses, 6,027 in 2015 versus 6,099 in 2014. Our advanced and expert course enrollment increased while our BRC enrollment dropped by 151 students.

~Bill Shaffer

FLORIDA

Florida was up 3.68%

~Edie Peters

VERMONT

	2014	2015	% Change
Registered BRC	1217	1271	4.4%
BRC II	114	91	-20.2%
Totals	1331	1362	2.3%
Attended BRC	1169	1201	2.7%
BRC II	106	86	-18.9%
Totals	1275	1287	0.9%
Passed BRC	1036	1069	3.2%
BRC II	94	82	-12.8%
Totals	1130	1151	1.9%

~Paul Graves

ILLINOIS

Illinois was down 1.5% in overall registrations to 16,112.

~Terry Redman

NORTH DAKOTA

ND had:

2014 2015
1920 1971

~Carol Thurn